

HAYWARD LUMBER ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION POLICY

We recognize the opportunity, accept the responsibility and will lead the journey to environmental stewardship. Leading is exactly what we have been doing. In 1999, we were the first lumber company in the country to offer FSC certified wood products to builders.

Next, we sought out less toxic building materials for our customers followed by offering high-performance ventilation systems to ensure all homes are filled with healthy, fresh air.

Today we are the leader in enabling builders to build healthier homes using the four Hayward Healthy Home Principles. Finally, to help people across America to understand the health impacts of their home we launched HaywardScore.com. We have now enabled over 23,000 people to improve the health of their homes.
